BALTIMORE, Feb. 21, 1862. Neither Colonel Corcoran, Colonel Lee nor Major Revere

among the returned prisoners. ANOTHER LETTER FROM COLONEL CORCORAN. Captain John Breslin, of the Sixty ninth regiment New York State Militia, has received the following letter from Colonel Corcoran :- Columbia, S. C., Feb. 3, 1862. My Dear Friext — Although I have not written to you since my captivity, my apparent neglect has not been occasioned by a want of the very warmest affection, which has and will remain unaltered under all circum tances. If the relative positions of you and I could of stances. If the relative positions of you and I could or might be reversed, I should consider myself very unique in it would not endeavor to have a few lines reach you to cheer you in your confinement. But I did not intend any of my limited space to be used in recrimination. I had the pleasure of hearing from my dear friend Captain Kirker, in aimost every letter, that you and family ware well. I did think of little Kaiy and Mary, and the many happy evenings I spont listening to and witnessing their sportive talk and plays. I wish you to say to them that I have rings and creases for them, which I shad sand by the lirst opportunity.

I have been treas industely rejeled at Lieutenant Compolity rejease. His bravery, has durded as the care and attention he believed on the ever since he stood by my side on the 21st of duly last, has given him a everlasting place in my love and eatour. I feet the here of his society, for he possessed the most cheering influence over my spirits. He will call upon you and less of his society, for he possessed the most cleering influence over my spirits. He will call upon you and give you many little particulars.

I have not heard from him since he left, nor from New York later than flist Brocenshor last. I hope you is e Mra. Corcoran secondonally. I wrote to her on the 7th att. also to Captain Kirker on the same day and on the 29th. Please prosent my love to hirs. Readin, Mr. and Mrs. Masterson, your brothers and Mr. Smith. I wrote to Father Moeney, but have not received a reply. Please remember me to him in the kindest manner; also to him and the particular distribution of the control of the nature of the control of the cont

THIRTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON Feb. 21, 1882. Mr. COLLAMER, (rep.) of Vt., presented the following:-That, entertaining the deepest sympathy and conde-lence with the President in his recent affliction, it is re-solved that the Senate do now adjourn.

This was unanimously adopted.

House of Representatives. Washington, Feb. 21, 1862.
The Homostead bill, reported from the Committee of Public Lands, coming up, the question pending being to recommit the same with instructions to report instead the Bounty Land Warrant bill, Mr. Gnow, to the chair, and, taking the floor, spoke against the motion. He expressed his surprise that gentlemen pretended at this day, not to understand the principles of a homestead bill. If any question had been more fully discussed than another it was this. Five times within the last ten years the House had passed a bill similar to this, and by two-thirds votes, when parties were nearly balanced on every other question. Bills, too, of like character had passed the Senate. He answered the objection that the public lands should be retained as a source of revenue. He (Mr. Grow) repeated that they had already ceased to be so, owing to the rebellion, as admitted in the report of the Commissioners of the Public Lands. Mr. Grow argued in favor of giving homesteads to actual settlers. By the settlement of the public domain the ability to pay the internal taxes will be increased, in addition to the other important benefits which must certainly result. Speculators should no longer be permitted to intervens between the government and actual tillers of the soil. Those who have flocked to the standard of the country are deserving of more substantial reward than tears for the dead and thanks to the living. He carnestly appealed to the House to pass the bill, and thus consecrate the public lands for homes to actual settlers who prespect in life, that they may be enabled to develope a higher, botter and nobler civilization.

No further proceedings were had on the above subject. Mr. Kaarr, (rep.) of ill., offered a resolution as follows:—
That engretaining the deer est sentiments of condolence.

Mr. Knapp. (rep.) of the oldered a resolution as follows:—
That entertaining the deepest sentiments of condolence with the free-ident and family in their present affiction, in the death of his son, the House now adjourn.

Mr. Rescen L. Conking, (rep.,) of N. Y., offered an amendment, which was adopted—
That, in view of the afficting event, the Commissioner of Public Buildings be requested to omit the illumination of the public buildings to morrow night.

The resolution as thus amended passed.

Adjourned.

A MODEL SUNDAY PAPER. A MODEL SUNDAY PAPER.

A Having completed their arrangements, the publishers of the SUNDAY MERCURY will to-morrow present the public with the most comprehensive newspaper ever published in New York. The SUNDAY MERCURY has loog taken the lead of all its cotemporaries in local news. Tomorrow it proposes to take a similar position as regards telegraphic intelligence. Its columns hereafter will be kept open until five A. M. on Sunday mornings, and whatever may occur within electric reach of this city up to that time will be reported under the telegraphic head, Cotemporary joirnais have each their spec at leasures. Inshe SUNDAY MERCURY it is proposed to combine everything that any class of readers expect to find in any enterprising newspaper. The very latest medicipence of all kinds, and from all sources, will be secured at any cost. The tacilities of the publishers for obtaining sign in histornation area, is in believed, unsurpassed, and its.

and ties will be taked to the drimost for the benefit of the public.

Lot every one who may purchase a SUNDAY MERCURY to-morrow compare the paper with any and every other published on that day, and determine by a fair examination of their respective merits which is the cheapest.

BEAR IN MIND.

BEAR IN MIND.

BEAR IN MIND.

BEAR IN MIND.

Character acope and objects, the SUNDAY MERCURY embraces every department of the public press, giving the latest intelligence by telegraph from all quarters and on all subjects, the best original stories published in the country, together with the amplest details of local news, and a greater amount of rare wit and humor than is to be found in any other paper in the country. The SUNDAY MERCURY aims at pre-eminence in all departments of the newscaper press. The politician, the man of take and those who seek the very latest michigence of all matters of interest, will find in this Giand Combination Newspaper all that they can possibly desire, of that enterprise, enorgy and industry can present in the way of a valuable Family Journal.

NEW ERA IN SUNDAY JOURNALISM.

NEW ERA IN SUNDAY JOURNALISM. THE SUNDAY MERCURY THE SUNDAY MERCURY

TO-MORROW

will contain all the news received in this city BY TELEGRAPH up to 5 o'clock on Sunday morning, together with all the local and general intelligence up to that hour, besides a number of original stories by the most popular romanelss on both sides of the Atlantic. Henceforth the SUNDAY MERCURY will be the most comprehensive newspaper published in the world, combining the fullest details of every passing event with unstripassed diversely exceptione.

NEW AND SYECIAL ARRANGEMENTS with the telegraph companies will enable the publishers new only to present teelr readers with all the information to animited to the Associated Press, but also to furnish exclusive depatches from trustworthy sources in relation to all the prominent and exciting topics of the day. The will be the very latest that comes over the wires—the immense multiplying power of the new SUNDAY MERCURY LIGHTNING PRESS enabling the editors to keep the paper open to a later hour than is possible with any of its contemporaries.

From this time to reward the SUNDAY MERCURY will be in advance of all competitors as regards every species of information coming under therhead of news, and superior as a literary paper to any weekly published in the United States. In fact, the combination of attractions offered to readers of every class in the SUNDAY MERCURY, for four cents, in the present circulation of the SUNDAY MERCURY exceeds that of all the other Sunday journals issued in New York, and would long ago have reached a much higher figure could the demand have been supplied. With the facilities afforded by their new press the publishers can guarantee the public against further disappointment.

SPECIAL LIGHTNING DESPATORES

SUNDAY MERCURY. The lightning column of the SUNDAY MERCURY is now kept open until twe o'clock on Sanday morning. Consequently that newspaper has the very latest electric intelligence from all parts of the country. By special arrangement it will hen elorward be furnished with innormation by every lightning line terminating in New York, up to, that hour. Compare its teigraphic, foreign, local and general news with the intelligence in these departments furnished by the daily press, and say whether it does not take the lead among the five newspapers of the age. Try to discover it there is anything proper to a model journal—a true transcript of events as they occure—that it lacks. The publishers challenge sequiny and comparison to-morrow, and every Sunday morning.

THE NEWS OF THE WORLD, LATEST HOMENT. ON SUNDAY MORNING.

ON SUNDAY MORNING.

The SUNDAY MERCURY brings up the news of the world to be o'clock on Sunday morning. Whatever intelligence, foreign or domestic, may be attent within the telegraphic distance of New York previous to that hour will inevitably appear in its columns. It will sweep, as with a net, the whole ercele of telegraph communication, suffering not, an item of interest to escape. It will not be necessary to take all the papers in order to obtain all the newsofthe day. The whole of it will be comprehended in the SUNDAY MERCURY, price four cents—the cheapest live newspaper on the American continent. Nor is this all: every class of readers will be chered for. The fireman, the military man, the natio officer, the lover of wit and fun, the admirer of sterling original fiction, the searcher after solid fact, the votary of fashion, the literary man, the patron of the drama, the general reader, and, in short, the whole of that wast community known as all the world, will find in the SUNDAY MERCURY—issued at six o'clock to-morrow morning—the kind of reading the each and all require.

THE GREATEST SUNDAY NEWSPAPER AMERICA NEW YORK SUNDAY MERCUR

Long ago its circulation exceeded by thousands that of all the other Sunday papers of the city combined. Up to this time the publishers have been unable to meet the constantly acrises and most perfect of its kind in New York, goes into operation, and they will be enabled to throw off a sufficient number of cooles to supply all concers.

TO MORROW'S SUNDAY MERCURY will contain all the telegraphic news transmitted over the various inless up to five o'clock A. M. on Sunday, embracing every war item of interest from the South and Southwest. Such are the arrangements of the proprietors, and such their incitities for obtaining authentic information from all quarters, that no paper can by any possibility steals march on the control of the control of the CELEBRATION OF WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY, here and in other cities, ample reports of every local event worth recording, and literary attractions aurpassing those of any other weekly, will be among the self-recommendations of tosmorrow's SUNDAY MERCURY.

wood Chare. Love Me Level as No. 30.

THE NUMBAY MERCURY

will contain the first instalment of this thrilling story, by the most popular netionist of the day. Among all liking writers who have charmed the million with takes for exerting adventure, and enlisted the attention and admiration of the tasteful readers of romance. PIERCE EGAN is, perhaps the most popular. In the story of IMO-GENE OR THE MARBLE HEAST, he has surpassed ameed! From the opening chapter to the grand finale, in which the interest—which increases with every scene—culminates, the auston holds the reader spellpound. There are some remarkes which exercise such a power over the insattoation that whoever dips into them must continue to the end. This to one of them. We have wishled it till the completion of our new lightling press, because we knew that it would be impossible to some the demand for the story with our new vious publishing feelings.
